Real-Time Venue Data

MiFID II is redefining the best practice in our industry

Organizations bound by MiFID II now need to adopt a Best Execution and/or Transaction Cost Analysis (TCA) process to comply. In addition, to meet the aims of increasing market transparency, over 28 new venues have been created that are providing new data from which people are making trading decisions.

Alongside the regulatory-driven changes, the desire by many sell-side and buy-side institutions to automate their trading workflows is driving strong demand for a comprehensive price discovery solution, to help provide the levels of transparency and efficiency needed.

These changes, driven by regulation and automation strategies, are leading to a global shift in the way firms conduct their trading operations.

Key Features

Thomson Reuters strives to help you fulfill your regulatory and compliance obligations with our single-platform MiFID II data solution.

- We provide access from all trade reporting venues
- We onboard all content from new sources (APAs, MTFs, etc.) and normalize and enhance all of the data sets; this includes real time, reference, time series data, and more
- Enhanced fixed income data sets, with a combination of our Velocity Analytics 8 platform and partnership with KX, can deliver a highly customizable visual solution that includes TCA and best execution
- The combined value of both pre- and post- transaction data will empower clients to become more efficient in the fixed-income space
